- 4) Apple Network – This web site connects you to where apples are grown in BC. There is a useful section on recipes and health information and several excellent links to general BC apple industry sites.
<http://www.bcapples.com/applenetwork.html>
- 5) Bramwell, Martyn. Food Watch. Dorling Kindersley Ltd., 2001.
- 6) Broken Limbs: Apples, Agriculture and the new American Farmer (Video, 2004).
Purchasing information www.brokenlimbs.org. It explains how a family apple business finds ways to diversity and survive as a business. It is American but BC apple growers are facing the same problem. The website also has a downloadable teachers guide with discussion questions and activities such as the Buy Local Challenge and Dissecting and Apple Pie.
- 7) Camilli, Thomas. Hands-on Science, Brains-on Math. Evan-Moor Corp., 1993.
- 8) Five to Ten a Day Campaign
www.5to10aday.com
This website is a collaboration of the Heart and Stroke Foundation, the Canadian Cancer Society and the Canadian Produce Marketing Association. The goal is to encourage Canadians to consume more fruits and vegetables. A good source of information on the health benefits of fruits and vegetables.
